Health and Safety Review of Land based Resources

A review to support members in achieving the highest standards in health and safety practices. The review will embrace the latest guidance from relevant industry bodies, the Health and Safety Executive, and good educational practice from across the sector. The review is particularly pertinent to members delivering land based, construction and engineering courses, where specific potential risks exist.

A one-day review to consider all aspects of occupational and on campus health and safety practices.
Themes will include:

- The responsibilities and effectiveness of leadership, management and governance in relation to health and safety
- The safe and appropriate use of resources
- Health and safety policies, risk and CoSHH assessments, and the recording, monitoring and continuous improvement of health and safety.
- Health and safety CPD
